

STUDENT FINANCE 2022-2023

Each year, the Government of Catalonia publishes a decree establishing the fees for the provision of academic services at public universities with regard to homologated qualifications. Consequently, these fees apply to homologated and, thus, subsidised courses.

Fees for non-EU residents for bachelor and master degrees are 50% higher than the standard price per credit for EU residents.

UPC offers the option of payment in two instalments:

- For semestral enrolment, 60% of the enrolment fees are paid when you enrol and the remaining 40% are paid in mid-December (enrolment in the first semester) or early April (enrolment in the second semester).
- For annual enrolment, 40% of the enrolment fees are paid when you enrol, 30% in mid-December and 30% on 1 March.

DOCTORATE PROGRAMMES

Doctorate programmes do not have tuition fees, only tutorship and administrative fees, which are approximately €600 per academic year. In the specific case of Erasmus Mundus joint doctorates, fees are set by the consortium of universities responsible for organising each programme.

PhD students could apply to different grants and research internships, funded either by UPC or by external institutions.
