"I joined the MSc ICE after several years of early-stage start-up development. The blended focus on innovation processes and start-up centric courses opened my eyes to new ways of thinking. I thoroughly enjoyed the multi-disciplinary environment with peers from engineering, design, and management. The programme's flexibility regarding external networking opportunities was essential and appreciated by me as a foreign student from South Africa. I made valuable connections through the close proximity to the massive Parisian start-up ecosystem."
